Risk Reduction

- Be aware of your surroundings and use the buddy system to look out for each other.
- Understand your own personal boundaries, and respect the personal boundaries of others.
- Don't make assumptions about consent, someone's sexual availability, whether or not they are attracted to you, or how "far" you can go. If you don't know, ask.
- Understand that consent to one form of sexual behavior is not consent to all other forms of sexual behavior and that silence and passivity do not imply consent.
- Understand how alcohol impacts people's ability to give consent and increases the risk of sexual assault.
- Make your limits known as early and clearly as possible; Don't be afraid to say, "No."
- Take care of your friends and ask that they take care of you.
- If you drink, drink responsibly. Only drink something you poured yourself or that comes in a pre-sealed container. Eat before going out, consume water, and don't let others make decisions about how much you will drink.
- Listen to your gut feelings. If you feel uncomfortable or feel like you might be at risk, leave and go to a safe place.

- The need for sanctions/responsive actions to prevent the future recurrence of discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliation;
- The need to remedy the effects of the discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliation on the Complainant and the community; and/or,
- The impact on the parties.

West Virginia Wesleyan College values intellectual rigor, self-discovery, human dignity, mutual support, social justice, self-discipline, mental and physical wellness, the appreciation of diversity and the natural world, and the judicious use of resources. Toward those ends, the College challenges its students to a life-long commitment to develop their intellectual, ethical, spiritual, and leadership potential and to set and uphold standards of excellence.

At WVWC students are challenged to think critically and creatively, communicate effectively; act responsibly, and demonstrate their local and world citizenship through service. Sexual misconduct includes sexual harassment, sexual assault, stalking, sexual exploitation, dating violence, or domestic violence of a sexual nature.

Conceivably, sexual misconduct could occur between strangers or acquaintances, including people involved in an intimate or sexual relationship. It could be committed by people of any gender and could occur between people of the same or different sex. Sexual harassment, including sexual violence, is a form of sex discrimination. Any member of the college community who encourages, aides, assists, or participates in any act of sexual misconduct against another is in violation of the college's policies, which are aligned to comply with the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) and Title IX.
